Daniel James
Lead Engineer
Combatant Gentlemen
Irvine, CA

Dear Mr. James:

I am writing this letter to get a chance to interview for the position of Junior Software Engineer. I learned of the opening after perusing the Stack Careers page.

I am interested in the position because I identify with the concern for ultimate quality and see to it that our peers, loved ones and customers receive what they deserve. I understand that my experience lies a little short at 1 years of software developing experience, but the assortment of projects I have completed as a Freelance Developer and as a lover of programming (Test Driven of course) have allowed me to understand the necessities of git, TDD with rSpec, a great starting point (Rails and Django), and of course the open source community. I have deployed 6 different sites to the world wide web each demonstrating my understanding of a good user interface as well as a good user experience. Currently I am a Web Content/Social Media Manager for a small business, Azmira Holistic Animal Care, and I have carried out my quest for ultimate quality by ensuring a better return of investment for the business' 3 websites and their Google Adwords campaigns. I am confident that I will bring value to your company.

At the moment I am working full time, however, I am capable of scheduling an interview within a weeks notice because of the ability to work from home. My phone number is (619)-248-0717 and I plan on being in San Diego on March 5th for the San Diego Ruby Meetup which means an interview between March 5th and 8th would be fantastic. Thank you for taking the time to consider my credentials.

Sincerely yours,

Thomas M. Rodriguez
